

IT'S AMAZING HOW FAR YOU CAN GO WITH A LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT.

It's easier to overcome obstacles and cover a lot of ground if you have steady encouragement. Today, Alaska's oil industry needs the reassurance of stable taxes and reasonable regulations to encourage exploration and development.

We have to get a jump on exploration because production on the North Slope is declining and new discoveries are needed to take the place of declining fields.

If the oil industry receives a little encouragement, Alaska's economy could grow by leaps and bounds.

EXPLORING
FOR ALASKA'S
FUTURE

ARCO Alaska, Inc.

