

His Right-Hand Man Is Woman

Word is out that Gordon Jackson, Alaska Federation of Natives, Inc., Executive Vice-President's right-hand man is a woman. For those of you who allege this — it's true!

Gordon hired Anne Just as a Staff Assistant in September, 1974 to be primarily responsible for research, developing position papers and legislation, analyzing legislation, organizational work program development, and others for Human Resources.

"She's really a dedicated and competent employee," stated Jackson. "She's been a lot of help developing our Education Position Paper, in program development, in submitting our Bush Justice application, in organizing meetings and conferences, analyzing legislation such as SB 1017, and many, many others. I really don't know how we could have gotten them all done without her valuable assistance."

Anne's impressive work experience include working as an AFN Johnson-O'Malley Evaluator; in Washington, D.C. working in the U.S. Office of Education; in the Women's Action Program, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; in the Upward Bound Program, U.S. Office of Education; Office of Education's Day Care Center; Task Force; Office of the Commissioner, Office of Education; and Teacher Training Program, U.S. Office of Education.

"She's one woman that you can truthfully say has 'come one helluva long way!'" said Jackson, "and there's no question at all in my mind that she's doing an excellent job. I really don't know why other officials shouldn't utilize all the many talents of women. They're a neglected minority, too, you know."
