

This just in . . .

The Bureau of Indian Affairs is hosting its 3rd Annual Programs Meeting in Anchorage December 6-8.

Organized by the Juneau Area Office, the meeting is an opportunity to receive comprehensive and detailed information about BIA programs. The meeting also provides a forum for Alaska Native tribes to raise issues of concern that fall within BIA jurisdiction.

This year's conference theme is "Solutions 93: Commitment to Develop Innovative Solutions for the Future" and includes both workshops and one-on-one sessions for tribal leaders and administrators. The meeting, which has a $20 registration fee, will be held at the Egan Convention Center.

For more information, call 586-7177.