

Flood Information Bulletins Here

“Emergency Flood Information” Bulletins published by the Cooperative Extension Service are now available in the Fairbanks Governor’s Office located in Room 144 of the State Building on Barnette.

Outlined are ways to avoid needless loss and plans for living at an evacuation site. There is also a guide for preflood planning and questions relating to flood insurance are answered.

The bulk of the material concerns what to do with belongings during a flood--what can be salvaged and how to do it.
