

Correction. . .

In the April 3 edition of the Tundra Times' article "Oil spill threatens villages, wildlife," Martha Vlasoff was quoted incorrectly as stating that villagers would starve as a result of the oil spill. She said she meant to convey that there will be less food available and that villagers' lifestyles will be affected. Vlasoff's name was also spelled incorrectly in the article.