

Complete goals on time

As the 18th Session of the Alaska Legislature starts, we want to remind our Senators and Representatives that cooperation is essential to complete their work in 120 days.

As of press time, we did not receive requested Juneau packets and hope to publish materials in upcoming issues. We have received a large response to our survey from all around the State. Many pointed out Representatives Richard Foster, Irene Nicholai and Senator Georgianna Lincoln were not mentioned.

We also want to remind the Hickel administration, as they head into their third year, that the department commissioners and heads had promised to serve at least one year, because they stated they weren't professional politicians and they did not need jobs. What they should have done last year, was to complete goals and offer their resignations in a timely, orderly fashion and turn the reigns of government over to another talented, large and diverse pool of citizens who should have the opportunity to serve the State.
