

WONDERFUL SURPRISE—Even though she already knew she was a member of the Copper Valley chapter of the National Honor Society, Jackie Smith, Second from the left, could still be "caught by surprise" immediately before the chapel ceremony. To her left is Steve Ujioka and on her right Linda Smith and Teri Tess, all second year members.

Copper Valley Students Join Honor Society

Not many students qualify for membership in the National Honor Society. At Copper Valley School, Glennallen, it takes brains, a B cumulative grade point average; leadership ability, efficiency in performing duties, service, putting others before self, and character, seeing different points of view.

Four students from C.V.S. met these requirements and were inducted into the Champion Chapter of the society on February 23.

They are Bridget Walsh, Kotzebue; Linda Roberts, Fairbanks; Stephen Gemmel, Clear; and Greta Wobser, Noorvik.

Walsh is president and Gemmel vice president of the senior class. Roberts is secretary of the student council and Wobser is president of the junior class.

Second year members are Steve Ujioka, Cordova; Jackie and Linda Smith, Medfra; and Teri Tess, Palmer. Prospective members are rated by the staff on a four to one point system with four being the best.

Using these ratings as a basis, the Chapter Council, consisting of the principal, Fr. James E. Jacobson, S.J., and four faculty members, met and made the final decision.
