

Walk, Walk 500 Miles Campaigning for Kay

Young Charles Parr has set for himself quite an assignment for the purpose of campaigning for Wendell Kay, gubernatorial candidate, by walking to Fairbanks from Anchorage, a distance of about 500 miles by road.

He has already been to Glenallen and last Wednesday, he was heading for Paxson which would be roughly about 300 miles from Anchorage.

Parr is expected to arrive in Fairbanks on August 17 or 18. He is carrying a portable two-way radio and he has been in contact with Mrs. Wendell Kay as well as Pearl Selid, campaign assistant to Kay in Fairbanks.

"He has been given wonderful reception in towns along the way," said Pearl Selid. "He's doing a wonderful job."

When Charles Parr arrives in the outskirts of Fairbanks, he will be met by Youths for Kay for Governor with banners who will march with him to the city proper.

Charles Parr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr of Fairbanks.
