

SUMMER INTERN - Richard B. Slats of Chevak is a summer intern with the Alaska State Historical Library in Juneau, where his job is to index historical photographs and organize historical negative files of priceless photograph collections. The University of Alaska -Fairbanks freshman is one of a number of summer interns working in the state government to gain working experience and knowledge of state government. "I've learned more about the way libraries work, and I know where to find something I want to know", he said.