

THESE THREE tiny ivroy women are from St. Lawrence Island and are part of a large collection of this type of figure collected by the late Otto Geist. These figures are found across the Arctic to Greenland and are believed to represent a kind of fertility figure. The tallest figure is 11 1/2" tall. From the Geist Collection, University of Alaska Museum.