

Some people believe that if a hen runs into the house it presages a visitor--other than the hen!