

Letters to the Editor

Dear Friends:

This is a call for a meeting with the Choctaw Indian Nation of Mississippi. This is the call of the Most Great Spirit, the Creator of your being! Come listen to the voice of the Great Mojave (GOD in the Whirlwind!) Come listen to the Warriors of the Rainbow. Come listen to the ways of PEACE. All things serve the Cause of God. Come, let us serve Him in a Sacred Way!

The rain falls on the good and the bad; the Sun shines upon the good and the bad. Come, let us pray together and meet together on the Sacred ground at the Sacred Mound of the Choctaw Nation of Mississippi.

Come to Mashulaville, Miss. and you will find your way to the meeting grounds from there. On the road map of Miss., you will find Mashulaville just northeast of Philadelphia, Miss. on Highway 14.

The meeting will start on the morning of November 11, 1968 at the Sacred Mound at sunrise with prayer.

For Freedom and God,
Frank LeQuiere (Ojibwa)

Dear Howard:

Well, it looks like they patted Senator Ernest Gruening on the head and sat him on a shelf a mite too soon. He just isn't ready to stay there!

At least the series of editorials around the state setting forth his great accomplishments were only too true.

Senator Gruening is a man of such ability that his loss in the Senate would be incalculable in these years when our country is torn by so many problems which we could have avoided if the leaders of both parties had listened to the wise counsels of Ernest Gruening.

The write-in campaign for Gruening is a bright spot in a dark year. Thank you.
