

Anaconda offers Native scholarships

Applications are available at any of the University of Alaska's statewide campuses for two $3,500 scholarships awarded annually to Alaska Natives by the Anaconda Copper Company.

Preference will be given to individuals nominated by an Alaska Native regional corporation or by Anaconda. Deadline for applications is April 1.

The scholarships were created to stimulate an awareness of the mining industry and an interest in pursuing a career in the mining industry. Purpose of the scholarship program is to prepare Alaska Natives to participate fully in the development of the mineral resources on their land.

The scholarships are open to Alaska Native students majoring in geology, engineering or other related earth science.
