

IANA provides $500 scholarships for four students

The Institute of Alaska Native Arts recently provided academic scholarships of $500 each to four students in art related programs.

The students are Sonya Kelliher, George Holly and Paul Phillip Jumbo, undergraduate students at the University of Alaska Fairbanks; and Tanis Hinsley, a graduate student at the University of Arizona-Tucson.

Sonya Kelliher, a student from the Bering Straits region, is pursuing a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree with an emphasis in painting and drawing. She also plans to supplement her degree with a teaching certificate upon completion of her program.

Jumbo, a Yup'ik student from Nelson Island, is majoring in theater, with a minor in music at UAF. His accomplishments as a drama/music student included participation in the Tuma Theater workshops with roles as musician, performer and prop maker, and roles in the UA Drama program's productions of Qayaq and Ubu Roi.

Holly is an Athabaskan student from Soldotna and in his second year of a bachelor of arts program at UAF.

His interests include acting, singing, drawing and sculpture, and he has taken several courses to enhance those interests.

Hinsley, Tlingit, graduated from UAF with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in 1987. She is continuing her education, working toward a master's degree at the University of Arizona in Tucson.
