

Hughes Provides 'SUPERMART'

Hughes Aviation Services opened a new aircraft sales office to provide the Alaska pilot a "Supermart" of both new and used aircraft, featuring a full line of Cessna products including the Propjet Conquest. Cessna sets rigid standards for dealer service, class of facilities and maintenance capabilities. Hughes Aviation has been chosen to be one of only eighteen dealers in the United States to carry the Conquest.

Jerry Roll, Aircraft Sales

Manager in Alaska feels that this is only the beginning for the further growth of the Hughes Aviation Services commitment to the Alaskan market. He also stated, "we will provide a service that will be competitive and allow the Alaskan pilot a place to shop, buy, sell and trade their aircraft right here in Alaska. There will be no reason for our people to have the added expense and warranty hassles of going "outside" to buy an aircraft."
