Beverly Believes:

The Future Is Our Children

Beverly Masek believes the children are the future of our communities. And their future depends on helping them to set goals and giving them confidence to grow into healthy adults. She also believes that the problem of child abuse is threatening the future of young Alaskans and endangering the life of our villages.

That's why Beverly is visiting twenty-four Alaskan communities in October and November to talk with school children about self reliance and courage. To help give them the confidence they need to love themselves and to ask for help if they need it.

At Charter North, we are proud to work with Beverly in creating this program. And to support her in helping end the problem of child abuse in Alaska.

For more information about the program or a schedule of communities, please call Charter North at 800-478-7575, ext. 514.
