Chevak Tundra Fest has something for everyone

Anyone planning to attend the Chevak Tundrafest this year will find they will not be lacking for things to do.

This year's activities, scheduled for Aug. 6, 7, 8 and 9, include something for everyone, from history recitations and curch services to bike races, bingo, and Eskimo dancing.

A kayak race also is planned and anyone interested in competing for the $500 purse should mail registrations stating their name, age, address and whether they will have their own kayak or will borrow a kayak. A $25 entry fee is being charged to those people who want to participate in the race.

Registration forms should be mailed to Tundrafest Kayak Race 81, care of Earl Atchak, Tundrafest Coordinator, Chevak Village Youth Association, Inc., P.O. Box 6083, Chevak, AK 99563.

Participants will meet at City Hall at 1 p.m. on Aug. 6 to hear rules and information on the race.
