

Rural education gets chancellor

Ed Biggerstaff, President of Anchorage Community College, has taken a year's leave of absence to assume the Interim Chancellorship of the University of Alaska Division of Community Colleges, Rural Education and Extensions.

During the coming year, Biggerstaff will maintain oversight responsibility for Anchorage Community College. The recruitment of a permanent chancellor for the community college division will be deferred pending a review of the university's total system of rural education delivery, including the administration of community colleges.