

If this week's paper seems a little heavy on advertising and light on news, it is because we have had to publish without the expertise of Managing Editor Jeff Richardson. Jeff is in Anchorage this week where he (personally) delivered his wife Tina of a baby boy, which they have named Devon, at 4:00 a.m. Monday morning. The Tundra Times staff wishes to congratulate Jeff and Tina, and Devon's sister Lisa, on the new addition to the family.
