

State wants to pay permanent fund dividends

State officials say as many as 19,000 residents who have incomplete dividend applications may be owed a check.

The goal is to either clear or deny pay by Feb. 1 to eligible Alaskans who applied in prior years.