Canadian supports U.S. fish position

Dear Editor:

The present request by Canadian Fisheries Minister Brian Tobin calling upon the U.S. government to meet its obligations of upholding the Pacific Salmon Treaty between the U.S. and Canada should be given the silent treatment. Since Canada has already violated the Universal Declaration of Human Rights Charter of the United Nations, which it signed on December 10, 1948. It has permitted the province of Quebec to put into law, racism, linguistic discrimination against Canada's only Official Language (English) and neocolonial-ism, all of which violate the U.N. Charter. Perhaps Fisheries Minister Brian Tobin has been advised by his Quebecois masters the Franco minority controlled federal government in Ottawa, Canada, to deal only with issues that do not expose their double standards.

Here is an individual, who knowingly took the law into his own hands by enforcing Canadian Law in international waters by arresting Spanish fishing boats in much the same as a pirate would have done, and then thinks of himself as some kind of hero. Do not forget that in 1927 Canada accused the United States of piracy when it arrested the Canadian smuggling vessel (I'm Alone) 200 miles out at sea in international waters, for breaking the prohibition laws of the U.S. Must the world now make special rules for Canada?

The governor of the State of Alaska, should tell Canadian Fisheries Minister Tobin to deal with outstanding Human Rights issues in Canada, before accusing Alaska of over fishing the Chinook salmon and requesting that it be stopped.

Yours truly,
