

33rd Annual Nurses' Association convention to be held in Seward

The 33rd Annual Alaska Nurses' Association state convention — "Sailing Beyond Tradition" — will be held in Seward Thursday through Saturday in the auditorium of the Alaska Vocational Technical Center.

Ann Huntsman, director of education and training for El Camino Hospital in Mountain View, Calif., is the keynote speaker.

Other topics to be addressed at the continuing education session include nursing in Sudan and Viet Nam, rehabilitation nursing, assessment of infertility problems and the history of nursing in Alaska.

The group will hear from Keith Campbell of Seward General Hospital on health care issues in a rural community.

Registration fees vary from $30 to $60 a day to the three-day fee of $75 to $150.

Those who want more information may contact Jan Hilton in Seward at 224-8020 or the association office in Anchorage at 274-0827.
