

Fairbanks Native Assn. Appeals—

Need Wild Game for Potlatch

The Fairbanks Native Association is still asking for meat and fish contributions for its potlatch—scheduled for March 20 at Lathrop High School in Fairbanks.

They are looking for caribou, beaver, rabbits, moose, muktuk, dried or fresh fish or reindeer to feed the several thousand people expected at the gathering. They will also serve local potatoes and vegetables.

Contributions for the potlatch may be shipped collect to the Fairbanks Native Association c/o Clara Carroll at the Fairbanks Native Welcome Center/ 520 4th/ Fairbanks. For information about shipping call 456-5008 or 452-4697.

Tickets for the potlatch are $4 and are on sale at the Fairbanks Native Welcome Center and at Ralph Perdue Jewelers in Fairbanks. They will go on sale at other places later this month.

No children under 14 will be admitted. The minimum age was set this year due to the crowds who attended last year's event and inability to handle so many people.

Entertainment will feature native good, dancing, native singing and much, much more, according to organizer Mrs. Georgianna Lincoln.
