

Welcome Sandy and Ray

Sandra Shroyer Beaver was appointed to the Tundra Times board of directors' at their last meeting.

Sandy has served as Vice Chairman of the board before.

She is married to Allen Beaver, an airline employee. Sandy is the active mother of two and is a supporter, fan and participant in softball and basketball. The grand niece of the late Tundra Times editor Howard Rock has lived and worked in Anchorage, Bethel and Kotzebue.

Ray Solomon, a grandson of Hannah Solomon, is an engineer by day and super photographer at night. An engineer, and University of Alaska/Fairbanks graduate, Ray will be on a flextime-parttime schedule for the Tundra Times. Next week, you can enjoy his candid photos of the revelers at the Egan Center on election night. Next spring, we hope to host a reception to show some of his photographs. We also welcome back former Tundra Times photographer Rob Stapleton, who will be handling assignments from time to time. Be sure and let us know of events you'd like them to cover.
