

Dancers perform at the State Fair

Members of the Chevak Tanqik Theatre group perform one of the dances which was part of the show they gave at the Alaska State Fair in Palmer.

The group, which presented three shows daily, participated in Expo '86 in Vancouver, British Columbia, and toured the Soviet Union with the Alaska Performing Artists for Peace.

At right, Joe Ayagarak Sr., a drummer in the group, and Earl Atchak tell a story about their village to the crowd.

