

WCA Eyes Pollution

Aware of the growing air pollutant and aircraft noise problems, Wien Consolidated Airlines is working closely with The Boeing Company, Pratt and Whitney jet engine manufacturers and the Air Transport Association, Ray Petersen, President of Wien Consolidated, said today.

"The focus is on changing the fuel burner cans in the jet engines to reduce air pollutants," he said, "and as soon as these changes are approved, they will be installed on our Boeing 737 jets at regular overhaul periods."

Petersen is a member of the Air Transport Association board of directors.