

LAY MINISTER GETS SCHOLARSHIP—The First Annual Gray Tilly Memorial Scholarship was presented to Rex Okakok of Barrow, at the Annual Governor's Day Awards Luncheon at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks. Okakok, seen with his wife, was presented the scholarship by Lola Tilly, left, professor of home economics emeritus. The scholarship comes from an endowment established by Mrs. Tilly and a group of her friends. This year it totaled $450. Okakok is a lay minister at the First Presbyterian Church in Fairbanks and plans to study the ministry.

SEALASKA ...

(Continued from Page 1)

serve as regional headquarters for Sealaska Corporation which, under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, is responsible for Native Alaskans enrolled in Southeast Alaska.

The purchase of the site, known as the Henri-Filler property, was confirmed following an agreement with the land owners, Joseph Henri and George Filler, of

The property, now serving as a public parking lot, is described as lots 1, 3, 5, 6 and 7 of Block 77 of the Tidelands Addition to the Borbridge indicated that the final decision to include retail shopping facilities will be made by the Sealaska directors following analysis of current feasibility studies.

"If evidence supports our preliminary findings, there appears to be a demand for first class retail space in the downtown area. If that is the case," Borbridge continued, "Sealaska's directors want to offer this type of commercial space to the local of commercial space to the local business community."

Alaska Appraisal and Research Corporation, of Anchorage, was retained by Sealaska Corporation to assemble and evaluate the data needed to determine the potential for downtown Juneau office

The study, which evaluated 37 central area office buildings concluded that there appeared to be a demand for a substantial amount of Class A office space within a period of no more than

Borbridge said that Sealaska intends to "build up," that is to erect a tall building with a reduced ground floor area to permit attractively landscaped areas at the ground level.

"Economic projections indicate that the Sealaska building will provide an attractive return for our stockholders' equity and, in addition, provide a permanent and attractive contribution to the community," Borbridge

Pension-Welfare Plans

Sample copies of the EBS-1 plan description reporting form for private pension and welfare benefit plans were made public recently by Assistant Secretary of Labor Paul J. Fasser Jr.

The Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 requires administrators of most plans to file this form with the Department of Labor and to deliver to plan participants and beneficiaries a summary plan description.

Village Schools

(Continued from Page 1)
awarded to Toombs and Company, Inc. of Fairbanks.
A $2,042,577 school will be built at Shishmaref by September of 1976, under a contract let to Northwest Construction Company of Anchorage.

The school will be for 35 students in grades 8-12. The building will include classrooms, multipurpose room, arts and crafts, shop, commons, and kitchen.

A $232,589 addition to the Noatak School will serve approximately 20 in the ninth grade. The 2,000 square feet of classroom will be completed by September of 1976, by Bill Ray Construction Company

Fairbanks.

A $287,304 airport is being built at Tuntutuliak. The contract was awarded to Harmon Brothers Construction Company of Palmer.

Work consists of construction of a silt and dirt landing strip 100' by 2,500', with a 100' by 200' parking apron and an access road of approximately 5,200. The construction is to be completed by January of 1976.

The deadline for filing the EBS-1 form and for delivering the summaries is August 31, 1975.

Most pension and welfare benefit plans will reeceive inthe mail within a few weeks the copy of EBS-1 they are to file.

A supply of the form will also be A supply of the form will also be available in approximately two weeks at the area office of the Labor-Management Services Administration, Room 3135 Federal Office Building, 909 1st Avenue, Seattle, Wash. 98174, telephone (206) 442-5216.

Commission ...

(Continued from Page 1

In assuming directorship of Northern Region of Alaska State Commission for Human Rights, Mr. Arrington will be responsible for the Nome, Dillingham and Bethel offices as well as expanding Fairbanks staff.

The Fairbanks office will be enlarged by three new field representatives to handle the increased demand created by pipeline-related complaints and growing Fairbanks population.

Mr. Arrington stated that one of his priorities is to decrease the tremendous backlog of cases so that the Human Rights Commission can continue to effectively and expediciously serve the public.

Mr. Arrington is active in community affairs. He is a member of the board of directors of the Fairbanks Concert Association, director of the Fort Association, director of the Fort Wainwright Chapel Choir and Post Choral Group; and a member of the Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity. He is a veteran of the Viet Nam Conflict, enjoys tennis and is an accomplished artist.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Fairbanks North Star Borough has been issuing Sales Tax Exemption Cards, to individuals and businesses who qualify, since February 19, 1975. This card permits persons who live outside the Borough, expediters for businesses, or persons conducting business outside the borough, to be exempted from Sales Tax on purchase of items to be taken outside the Fairbanks North Star Borough for use.

The Sales Tax Exemption Card is available at the Borough Sales Tax Office at a charge of $5.00 EACH and may be renewed annually.

For additional information come to the Borough Sales Tax office, 514 Second Avenue, Room 103, or call 452-4761, ext. 32 or 33.

0000000000000

Barrow School ...

them to meet the Life Safety Code as outlined by the State Fire Marshal. We are still prepared to honor this committment which we anticipate will cost from $2½.$3 million."

Antioquia said the initial phases of this improvement had been improvement had been completed, and other work was continuing

Montie Slusher, a school district official, acknowledged that some work had been done but was inadequate inadequate.

Tilley said it would probably be more feasible to build a new school. However, Slusher said although a new school was projected, drawings have not been construction.

projected, drawings have not been approved and construction probably could not begin for another two or three years.

Brower said BIA has told the school district they can "only do so much and that's it, and that won't take care of the problem."

Slusher added, "Is it morally or ethically right to ask us to do what thically right to ask us to do what they should have been doing for years." He said whatever amount of money BIA commits to the project, BIA has indicated that no major work could been until a work could begin until a year from this summer, which might prevent opening of the school next fall.

The problem is further aggravated by over-crowding. Because grades 3-4 and special education classes were forced to move from a condemned building move from a condemned building into the Day School Complex. The complex, originally built for 240 students, now holds approximately 650.

While the borough-BIA dispute drags on, according to Tilley, the life and limbs of teachers are in ### Graduation...

(Continued from Page 1)

Fairbanks, Anna Jacobson, Kwethluk, and Richard Romer,

Students receiving bachelor of science degrees are Denise Major, Glenallen and Annabelle Towarak, Unalakleet.
Stanislaus Nevak, Chefornak, and Sarah Seeberger, Kotzebue, will receive bachelor of business will receive bachelor of business administration degrees.

Rita Hunter, Marshall, and Eileen MacLean, Barrow, will receive bachelor of education degrees.

NATIVE ARTS DIRECTORY

ALASKA HOUSE ALASKA'S FINEST

SKS, BASKETS, DRAWINGS AND OTHER

GOOD ESKIMO AND INDIAN ARTS. 1003 CUSHMAN ST., FAIRBANKS