

Time to Cleanup—

Spring Has Arrived

Spring has arrived and with it comes longer days and warmer temperatures. Some people may be struck by thoughts of love and romance; while others may be concerned with baseball, fishing and other outdoor activities.

There is one thing about spring that is common with everyone, and that is SPRING CLEANUP. This can include a number of activities to enhance the home environment and make it healthier.

A clean house and surroundings reflect a sense of individual and community pride. But this is not the only reason for a spring cleanup. When accident hazards such as broken bottles, tin cans, and rusty metal that have accumulated over the winter have been removed, a possible injury to you or a member of your family is prevented by cleaning up around the home, breeding places for flies or mosquitoes are eliminated. •

Food and shelter for rats and mice, all of which are carriers of many diseases are reduced.

Get out, enjoy the fresh air and warm sunshine by pitching in and organizing a cleanup campaign, even if it's only your own home cleanup campaign!

A cleanup campaign will not only beautify your community, but will also help improve the health and safety for all. Then you can enjoy all the other springtime activities knowing you have done your part in providing a healthier, safer, and more pleasing environment for you, your family, and your community.
