

Reaping the benefits of a successful hunt

Joanne Beck, First Chief of Eagle Village IRA Council, sings moose nose over an open fire. Eagle is a Han Athabascan village on the Yukon River in northeaster Alaska. Beck was photographed by Pat Jackson, legislative aide to Rep. Irene Nicholia, who recently visited Interior villages on the state's highway system with Sandra Borbridge, a tribal program official with the Environmental Protection Agency, on a fact-finding trip.
