

Theme Contest Opened For Golden Days

A contest to select the theme for the 1966 Golden Days Parade in Fairbanks was announced today by parade chairman Jim Muir and Golden Days chairman Bill Sisson.

The theme selected each year determines the type of decorations and designs used on the floats entered. This is the first year the selection of the theme has been requested from area residents.

"The theme should be short and to the point, in keeping with the event we are celebrating, our area's birthday," Muir said. The winner and his companion will be honored guests of the Golden Days Committee on the parade reviewing stand and in other events. The decision of the judging committee is final and in case of duplicate entries the earliest postmark will determine the entry. All entries must be received in the Chamber office, 550 First Avenue by 5:00 p.m., May 3.
