

Alaska Council to host Soberfest '95

Across the nation, April is "Alcohol Awareness Month." The Alaska Council on Prevention of Alcohol and Drug Abuse will be hosting "Soberfest 1995," an alcohol-free block party and carnival on Saturday, April 29, from 1:00pm to 5:00pm, at the WALMART located on Benson in Anchorage.

Games, prizes, and various entertainment will be provided free-of-charge to SOBERFEST 1995 guests. Activities such as: face painting, crazy contests, basketball and hockey game booths, combined with various exhibits and refreshment vendors to demonstrate that you can have fun without alcohol, which is the focus of the day. Vince and Larry, the "Crash Test Dummies," will be there too! People of all ages are eagerly invited to join the festivities.

This is a great opportunity for parents, children, and all community members to celebrate healthy living! For further details contact the Alaska Council on Prevention of Alcohol and Drug Abuse at 258-6021.
