

FUR RONDY CAMP MEETING!
Feb. 17 - 21 at 7 p.m.
Rev. Darrell Redfearn, speaker
Bible Study at 10:30 a.m. with Don Ramsey,
Dean of Far North Bible College
Anchorage Native Assembly of God
11th and Juneau
276-1781 243-1936

Employers: training a new employee is expensive.

Consider
 On-the-Job Training
 --at half the cost

Most new employees need several months on the job before they become fully productive. We offer this incentive to hire our applicants: we will reimburse a business for its unusual training costs--up to half the person's wages for about six months--while it trains the new employee.

- You receive cash reimbursement.
- We recruit and pre-screen applicants.
- You hire the person of your choice.
- You design and do the training.
- We handle the paperwork.

Other businesses have used
 O.J.T. successfully:

"I use O.J.T. on a regular basis. I normally have at least one O.J.T. trainee. Because I'm a franchise, I work with a very limited profit margin. The program allows me to hire somebody sooner than I normally would."

*John Hargesheimer, Manager
 Wards Catalog Store Franchise, Fairbanks*

"It's very difficult to find people with the expertise in our work--making maps. We used to bring people up from down south, but after three months, they couldn't handle it. We have found that it pays to take an individual off the street whom we feel has the aptitude."

*Rich Davis, Chief Draftsman
 Air Photo Tech, Anchorage*

Barbara Eschavarria, draftsperson, Air Photo Tech

On-the job training: it's good business
 Please contact me with more information

Name/title _____
 business _____
 address _____
 phone _____

Alaska Private Industry Council
 225 Cordova, Building B
 Anchorage, Alaska 99501
 (907) 279-3462