

Local government workshop to be Oct. 20-21 in Anchorage

The Cooperative Extension Service and the University of Alaska-Fairbanks' Conferences and Continuing Education are sponsoring a local government workshop, "In Control — The Business of Local Government," Oct. 20 and 21 in Anchorage.

The workshop, which will be in the Federal Building, is provided for all community leaders and administrators who are involved in the every-day business of running local governments in rural Alaska.

Topics that will be addressed include municipal audit preparation, obtaining grants, understanding the new Title 29, obtaining community insurance, effective use of a municipal attorney and dealing effectively with the Legislature.

Those who want further information may contact the Cooperative Extension Service's Local Government Program at 276-2433.