

Subsistence:

Steve Cowper will protect it.

Make the subsistence law work.

Steve Cowper believes it's not enough to just have a subsistence law. He'll put it into action and make it work.

Safeguard and enhance fish and game resources.

Subsistence will be secure when fish and game resources are plentiful. Steve Cowper believes in strong habitat protection, good resource management and stringent safeguards against damage or pollution.

Promote local skills, products and resources.

Steve Cowper believes rural Alaskans have a lot to offer the world. From fish to furs and Native crafts, local skills and products can bring jobs to the villages. Steve Cowper wants to work with rural Alaskans to develop supplemental cash economies, to keep the subsistence way of life strong and viable.

Keep Native lands in Native hands.

Steve Cowper is 100% behind efforts to protect ANCSA lands from takeover. He believes that continued Native ownership of those lands is in the best interests of all Alaskans.

Steve Cowper believes subsistence is the foundation of the rural culture and critical to the rural economy. That's why he's committed to protecting and preserving the subsistence way of life.

Congratulations, AFN, on 20 years of protecting Native interests with integrity, pride in heritage and progress. May your work continue to keep Native traditions strong.
