

Dee Lane joins AEO staff

Dee Lane, former land planner for Cook Inlet Region, Inc. and Doyon, Ltd., Native Corporations, has joined the research staff of the Alaska Energy Office, located in Anchorage. The Director of the Alaska Energy Office, Bill McConkey, said today that he is pleased to have Ms. Lane serve as a energy planner for their Regional Energy Assessment Program, which began August 2nd.

Ms. Lane brings extensive experience in land resources, management and use, particularly in the rural area. McConkey said, "She will be of great value in our Regional Assessment Program, as we research Alaska's energy resource, potentials and projected use."

Ms. Lane also was an Assistant Planner and Administrative Assistant for the Alaska State Housing Authority from 1965 to 1973 before joining the Native corporations in 1974. Recently she was a research Analyst for the Alaska Royalty Oil and Gas Development Advisory Board.
