The withdrawal of Lester D. Bronson of Nome as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the State Senate from District J was announced last week by Secretary of State Hugh J. Wade.

Bronson, a former Territorial and State legislator, gave no reason for his withdrawal, Wade said.

The withdrawal leaves two Democratic incumbents, Eben Hopson of Barrow and R.R. (Bob) Blodgett of Teller, seeking the Democratic nomination for the single seat from the Barrow-Kobuk and Nome district.
