

Amber necklaces to keep croup away from small children kept cropping up as late as the 19th century.