

A tip of the hat

The Tundra Times owes a debt of gratitude to Harold Schetzle, public information officer for the Alaska Federation of Natives (AFN). On loan from the AFN as acting managing editor, Harold held the paper together for more than two months, putting out seven regular editions plus the Fur Rendezvous special edition, then assisted greatly during the recent transition to new management. It was a total immersion, sink or swim challenge. Harold met it and kept things afloat. He did well, and he says he will continue to assist the paper. Thank you, Harold.
