

Tundra Times returns to Wednesday publication

The Tundra Times, which published on Fridays over the Christmas and New Year holiday season, is edging back to its normal Wednesday publication date. The newspaper is being published on Thursday this week, and will resume Wednesday publication with the January 17 issue. Advertising deadlines will return to Fridays for the following week's issue with next week's publication. Deadline for submission of news releases and photographs, and non-advertising public notices, will again be at noon Monday for each week's newspaper.