

Free 12-Week Education Class Offered

James E. O'Rourke, manager of the Alaska State Employment Service announced this week that a twelve week course in basic education will begin Monday, April 29, to provide instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, and how to get and hold a job for persons who dropped out of school before the end of the eighth grade. Tuition is free and most trainees will be eligible for allowances.

Anyone interested should apply as soon as possible to the Alaska State Employment Service, State Court and Office Building, Sixth and Barnette Streets, between 8:30 a.m. and 12 noon, or 1:00 and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.
