

Watch Out Ladies, Here Comes Mens' Liberation

By CARLENE BOWNE

Watch out ladies, here comes men's liberation. The first two students in the new Tanana Valley Community College's gourmet cooking class are men, and they're both looking forward to the class with enthusiasm.

Of course, TVCC is registering both men and women for the class which is called "Gourmet Cooking for Fun." Registration is being taken at the Hutchison Career Center. For further information call 479-2261.

The course begins March 7th, and runs for seven weeks. It will be taught on Friday and Saturday evenings from 6 pm to 9 pm at the cafeteria in the Artic Research Building on the U of A Campus. Students will use themselves as guinea pigs on Friday nights.

But Saturday evenings will be family night and students will sautee, braise, and boil for their families palettes. Food costs will be on the pay-as-you-eat plan.
