

Charlie Sheldon and Freda Goodwin of Kotzebue listen intently to discussions during the first statewide Native Baptist Conference, held in Fairbanks November 10-13. The purpose of the conference was to promote unity among Native Baptists and to strengthen Baptist work. Up to 138 people attended the conference—about 12 towns and villages were represented.

Jimmy Bedford Photo.