Eight-year-old Paul O'Brien of Anchorage appears uncertain as he crosses an obstacle at a race of participants in the Cook Inlet Native Association Easter Funday Pepsi ski race. O'Brien needn't have worried. He won a bunch of Easter candy and a frisbee for his efforts. First prize in the 7-to-11 age group for the race was a pair of downhill skis which went to Sig Larson Jr., 9. Both are first-year skiers and have been with the CINA program since March. The prize skis were donated by Gary King ski school.
