

Report on petroleum

The Department of the Interior has sent to Congress a land use study of the National Petroleum Reserve-Alaska which covers the North Slope west of the Prudhoe Bay oilfields.

The Administration will forward its formal land use recommendations later this year.