

SELAWIK SENIORS VISIT — Pearl Greist (left) and Geneva Skin, both 18, seniors at the Selawik school spent most of the month of April in Anchorage along with 13 other students on a work-study program sponsored by NANA. While here they worked in various of NANA's Anchorage offices — construction, payroll, accounts payable, and switchboard — learning how the corporation works and developing skills. At home, they spent one half day in school and the remainder of the day working in local offices there. Geneva is a helper in the Selawik city office and Pearl works as a secretary to Chuck Johnston.
