

'Treasures in the Pages' records pleasant memories

by Grace Siwooko

for the Tundra Times

ST. LAWRENCE ISLAND — There is a book I'm writing. It's title is Treasures in the Pages. The contents are the times I've had in my life.

Some of the times I've had in my life are so interesting and good that I want to do something with them.

Thanks to the white man that came and taught us this great thing, writing. On the very first part of my first book on Treasures in the Pages, I wrote, "There are such darling things people do that I saw every day that I sought a way to catch them and keep them."

Like back in the days when I was a little girl, many things were different. Modern things sure are coming on. I like that. Life can be so good to live in when the interesting things are going on.

Some of the good things we have are snow machines to go about on the snow in winter times. They are powerful. People can even to go Savoonga in shorter time than dog teams.

Men sure use those now for going out hunting and traveling. Someone got a walrus the other day. Those meats like walrus and seal are our meat here on this island. Sivuqaaq in our language, St. Lawrence Island.