

Westman gets counseling award

JUNEAU — Juneau resident Elsie Westman, a junior in the University of Washington School of Nursing program, was recently awarded the American Indian Student Counseling Service Student Recognition Award, according to the Central Council Tlingit and Haida Indian Tribes of Alaska.

Student recognition awards are provided by the Friends of Educational Opportunity Program, a University of Washington Visiting Committee, to students who have established outstanding records of academic and personal achievement.

Westman, along with 11 other students, was honored at a dinner at the Sheraton Hotel in Seattle.
