You remember Fred. He was your fishing buddy from Seward — the guy who introduced you to Janet that summer the silvers wouldn't stop biting. No one could tie a fly like Fred.

You and Janet got married, and Fred moved to Idaho. Then — well, he married the prettiest girl in Boise and started manufacturing the best fishing tackle anyone had ever seen.

There's a Fred in everybody's life. A pal who could be counted on anytime, and anywhere. Why not give him a call and let him know the silvers still show up every summer in Seward? Tonight, you can call from Anchorage to, say, Boise for only $4.96, and talk for 15 minutes.*

So pick up the phone. After all, what good is a great fish story if you can't share it with Fred?
