

Sealaska appoints Harris new VP

JUNEAU — Sealaska Corporation has announced the appointment of Rick Harris, 39, of Juneau, as Vice President of Resource Planning and Administration, according to Byron I. Mallott, Sealaska Chief Executive Officer.

“Rick Harris joined Sealaska Corporation in April 1980 as our Environmental Coordination Manager,” Mallott said. “His management contributions have covered environmental regulatory and management concerns with timber operations, fisheries and subsistence, development of Sealaska’s Resource Atlas, and ongoing planning for resource development and management.”

“His performance record with Sealaska Corporation and our Natural Resources Department have been outstanding,” said Robert W. Loescher, Sealaska Sr. Vice President of Resource Management. “As an officer of the corporation, Rich will be more able to assist me in the full range of Natural Resource department responsibilities.”

Harris will retain his title of Environmental Coordination Manager.

Sealaska Corporation is one of 12 regional corporations formed under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1971, with principal investments in seafood processing, forest products, building materials, oil and gas leases, banking, and in other natural resource developments in Alaska.
