

Native Youth Movement- Mitch Demientieff Is Movement Chief

By CYNTHIA SMZYD

On Friday, September 24th, the Native Youth Movement held its second meeting at the Fairbanks Native Community Center.

During the meeting, elections were held. Chief of the Movement is Mitch Demientieff; second chief, Ted Sutton; third chief Al Judson; secretary, Barbara Albert. The five councilmen elected are Amy Kalloch, Roy Otton, Lucy Jimmie, Joyce Demientieff and Reggie Joseph. Shirley Demientieff was appointed draft counselor.

As of now, the NYM is working on two projects. First, they are helping to campaign for Sam Kito in the race for seat C of the North Star Borough school board. Second, they are helping the day care center get started.

A class in Cultural Heritage of the Athabascan Indian is to be held every Monday night at the Fairbanks Native Community Center, 102 Lacey Street, from 7 to 9 p.m. The class will be from September 27 to November 29. Agnes Mayo will teach.

Signups are at the center or at the North Star Borough office. At the close of the meeting, Al Judson quoted the NYM motto — "Your People Need You."

NYM is an organization for native young people in the Fairbanks area. Next meeting is Friday, October 1st at the Fairbanks Native Community Center. All native and part native young people in the area are invited.
